386 VOTES IN THE HOOVER LANDSLIDE

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 7—(U. P.)—Herbert Hoover's presidential landslide gave him a lead of nearly 2,000,000 popular votes over his democratic opponent, Gov. Alfred E. Smith, when 16,000,000 odd votes were tabulated by the United Press at 3 A. M. today.

The total at that hour showed: Hoover, 9,079,680; Smith, 7,092,342.

The figures manifest that Smith had polled a much larger popular vote than would have been expected from tabulation of the electoral vote showing his overwhelming defeat.

The electoral figures at 3 A. M., showed Hoover 386, Smith 76, uncertain 69.

New York, Nov. 7—Herbert Hoover will be the thirty-first president of the United States. His election was conceded shortly before 1 A. M. today by Governor Alfred E. Smith.

At the same time United Press returns from all parts of the nation recorded a landslide which already had made Hoover certain of 386 electoral votes, four more than Calvin Coolidge received in his 1924 landslide.

There was every indication that Hoover's total would go above 400 and it might be the greatest victory in American political history.

Returnst throughout the country indicated that Herbert Hoover had decisively defeated Governor Alfred E. Smith in a sweep which might equal the predictions of his managers that he would carry 400 electoral votes.

Hoover crashed into the solid south carrying Virginia apparently by a comfortable margin, much to the surprise of his own managers. He had a chance in Florida and Texas, something no republican presidential candidate ever had in 52 years.

Governor Smith and probably most of his state ticket have gone down under a republican tide in New York state—a loss that apparently was fatal to Smith in his presidential fight.

Within the last hour Hoover's probable total electoral vote has climbed to 328 with the addition of Arizona, Minnesota, Nebraska and Utah. Smith has gained no states in the last hour and still remains with an indicated total electoral vote of 76 which may be increased by later gains.

In the doubtful states there are 127 votes left, including Connecticut, Florida, which is leaning toward Hoover; Maryland which is conceded to Hoover by the Baltimore Sun, a democratic pro-Smith paper; Massachusetts, where Smith is gaining as the Boston count piles in; Missouri, which is now leaning to Smith; Montana, where Smith has a fair chance; Nevada, still to be heard from; New Jersey, which is leaning republican; Oregon, which is unreported; Rhode Island; Tennessee which is swinging toward Hoover; Texas, where Hoover is running close to Smith, something unprecedented in that state; and Washington where Hoover is leading on fragmentary returns and is expected to win.

Hoover, who was nominated at the republican national convention over the protest of the farm belt, appears to have run ahead of Coolidge's 1924 total in many states in that section.

Although Hoover never before ran for office he won one of the greatest electoral victories on record, and against a man who had been regarded as almost a miracle worker in his vote attracting powers.

Probably it never will be settled just what happened, some will say the Protestants refused to permit a Catholic to be president. Some will say the country repudiated Smith's wet program. Some will say the country wanted to be sure of continued progress.

RASKOB CONCEDES ELECTION AT 12:40

New York, Nov. 7—(U. P.)—Chairman John J. Raskob of the democratic national committee conceded the election of Herbert Hoover at 12:40 A. M. today.

"The democratic party made a gallant and clean fight," Raskob said, "for the principles in which it believes."

"The verdict of the American people has been rendered, and, in accordance with democratic principles, we cheerfully accept the will of the majority and shall take our place in the ranks of the majority of American citizens whose desire is the future welfare of our country."

COOLIDGE SILENT ON RESULTS

Washington, Nov. 6—(U. P.)—President Coolidge retired at 11:50 P. M. after following the elections returns throughout the night over a private United Press wire.

He sat alone in his study until it apparently was certain Hoover had won the election. He issued no statement.

Mrs. Coolidge retired earlier.

HOOVER, SHIPSTEAD LEAD IN COUNTY

Hoover and Shipstead were winning in Crow Wing county according to returns coming in from different sections of the county and city up to 4 A. M. today.

Nine out of 54 precincts in the county including three from the city of Brainerd gives Hoover 1,495 votes, Smith 856, Shipstead 1,345, Nelson 992. First returns in the presidential and senatorial race in Brainerd were received from the first precinct of the second ward where Hoover polled a vote of 411, Smith 227, and for U. S. Senator Nelson 367, Shipstead 286.

Further complete returns from that precinct augmented by returns from other precincts received leaves no doubt but that Christianson will receive a heavy vote from the county and will be re-elected as governor throughout the state. Gov. Christianson received 429 votes in the first precinct of the Second ward whereas his opponent Andrew Nelson drew 184. Lundeen polled a light vote from the precincts heard from.

The fifth ward went: Hoover 531, Smith 261; Nelson 308, Shipstead 513. Returns from the second precinct of the Third ward gives Hoover 218, Smith 107; Nelson 107, Shipstead 235.

Incomplete returns from the first precinct, Third ward, 76 votes to count at 4:30 A. M. today, gives Hoover 343, Smith 190; for U. S. Senator, Nelson

N. Y. PAPERS GIVE HOOVER ELECTION

New York, Nov. 6—The New York World, one of the leading Democratic newspapers of the country, at 10 p. m. tonight conceded the election of Herbert Hoover as president.

The New York American, owned by William Hearst, and the New York Daily Mirror, claimed Herbert Hoover's election at 10:30 tonight.

The New York Sun on the basis of returns received to 10:40 p. m. said that Herbert Hoover was assured 259 electoral votes at that time against 108 for Alfred E. Smith.

164, Shipstead 405.

Incomplete returns from the second precinct of the Second ward shows Hoover and Smith running close, the former with 225 votes, the latter 203, with Shipstead taking a lead over Nelson. The Shipstead vote early today was 241, Nelson 197.

Precincts heard from were Mission, Trommald, Cuyuna, First Precinct Second ward, Fourth ward, second precinct Second ward, Ironton, First Assessment District, Smiley township, Jenkins village, Oak Lawn, Baxter. Ironton's first returns announced showed Scallion 205, Bosel 147 for representative in the legislature, with Syreen 241 and Opsahl 116.

Incomplete returns from the First ward give Hoover 235, Smith 90; for senator, Nelson 140, Shipstead 225.

Incomplete returns from the Fourth ward give Hoover 300, Smith 71; for senator, Nelson 116, Shipstead 284.

Returns throughout the county indicate that all republicans with the exception of Arthur E. Nelson will be elected.

Oak Lawn went 90 for Hoover and 53 for Smith, while Shipstead polled a vote of 109 with Nelson 48.

L. B. Kinder was returned to office as Judge of Probate for Crow Wing county without opposition. He received a large complimentary vote.

For county commissioner Fifth district, Johnstone received a vote in Trommald of 44 to 27.

Johnstone polled 260 votes and Burns 118 in the vote for county commissioner in the Fifth district at Ironton.

Smiley township went almost three to one for Hoover giving him 61 votes and Smith 23 votes. Nelson polled 43 votes and Shipstead 41.

Nelson lead Shipstead by one vote in Mission, the former polling 24, the latter 23. Hoover received 33 votes and Smith 19 there.

MINNESOTA IS STRONG HOOVER AND SHIPSTEAD

St. Paul, Nov. 6—(U. P.)—On the basis of incomplete but fairly representative returns it was generally believed here tonight that Herbert Hoover had carried Minnesota by a three to two majority. In the heavily populated centers Hoover had an overwhelming majority except in St. Paul where Governor Smith maintained a slight lead when almost half of the precincts had reported.

Minneapolis swung to the republican candidate heavily in some precincts by a four to one majority.

Even before the trend in the east had gone definitely to Hoover, Minnesota was believed out of the doubtful column and in the solidly republican class.

Senator Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor candidate for re-election, apparently was as popular with the Minnesota voters as was Hoover. On the basis of early balloting Shipstead's lead over Arthur E. Nelson, his republican opponent, was virtually 3 to 2.

Governor Theodore Christianson, republican candidate for re-election, maintained a strong lead over Andrew Nelson, Duluth, democrat, and Ernest Lundeen, Minneapolis, Farmer-Labor.

SMITH SENDS BEST WISHES TO OPPONENT

New York, Nov. 7—(U. P.)—Governor Alfred E. Smith, at 12:45 A. M. today conceded that he had lost the race for the presidency.

He sent the following telegram to Herbert Hoover:

"I congratulate you heartily on your victory and extend to you my sincere good wishes for your health and happiness, and for the success of your administration."

CHARGE FRAUD IN THE NEW YORK GUBERNATORIAL RACE

New York, Nov. 7—(U. P.)—The following statement was given to the United Press by the democratic state committee early today:

"Owing to the extreme delay with which approximately one thousand districts up state are sending in election returns the democratic state committee has become convinced that fraud is being committed in an attempt to elect Albert Ottinger as governor of the state of New York."

"Accordingly Edward S. Dore, chairman of the law committee of the democratic state committee, John Godfrey Saxe and Maurice Bloch, minority leader of the assembly are leaving New York City on the Empire State Express Wednesday morning at 8:30 for up-state cities, together with a staff of one hundred lawyers to uncover such frauds as have been committed and to prevent any further frauds."

perity by continuing President Coolidge's regime under one of his subordinates. Some will say the country just naturally is republican. Perhaps there is some element of truth in all of those propositions, and perhaps not.

This was the first time a Catholic ever ran for president as a major candidate and the first time prohibition became a national election issue. But whether the campaign turned upon any one question is something not yet clear.

Smith's defeat included even his own New York state which had honored him for lesser offices so many times. He had run for office 25 years and this was only his second defeat, the other being when he lost for governor in the Harding landslide of 1920, although running far ahead of his ticket.

He not only lost New York state but some of the solid south—the first time any democrat had lost any of those states since reconstruction days.

Hoover has carried Virginia, apparently, and possibly Florida and Texas, although the last two states are still uncertain. Smith lost the border states of Maryland, Kentucky and Tennessee and seemed slowly slipping under in Missouri.

Herbert Hoover's landslide continued to gain momentum as returns from outlying districts came in this morning.

He was certain of 386 electoral votes which was one than Coolidge received in his landslide four years ago, and the New York World, strong democratic, predicted he might get 455 electoral votes which would far exceed the 404 record by Harding in 1920.

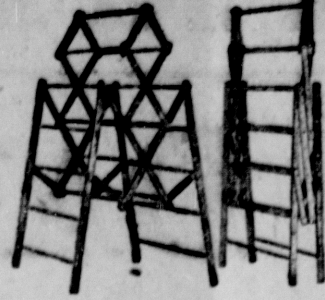

In popular vote Hoover had slightly over 8,000,000 out of a total of 15,500,000 so far counted. This was probably half or less of the total vote cast.

Gov. Smith was gaining some in Massachusetts and he had 412,099 against Hoover's 392,610 with about one-third of the state reported. This was his only important lead outside of the solid south, and there he lost Virginia to Hoover and possibly Texas and Florida.

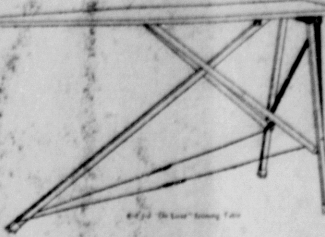

On the border, Maryland went to Hoover as did Kentucky, Tennessee and Oklahoma. Missouri was leaning toward Hoover, 105,484 to 93,491.

Hoover appeared to have carried everything west of the Mississippi except Arkansas. Smith had a technical lead in Utah, but as this state went for Taft in 1912 it is regarded as Hoover's.

THE KNOT HOLE

Vol. 3 WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1923 No. 38

Published for the information and entertainment of the home-loving folks in Brainerd and vicinity by the Standard Lumber Co. Paul H. Schuldt, Editor.

Two tons of coal were stolen last Winter from every home in Brainerd that was not protected with our storm sash and weatherstripping.

About the best argument we heard in the present campaign was between a Democrat who is voting for Hoover and a Republican who is voting for Smith.

The "wets" who want to keep "dry" and the "drys" who don't want to get "wet" unanimously acclaim MULE-HIDE as the logical candidate and sponsor his election.

School District No. 35, Lake Edward Township, are building a fine new school house. It's going to be "warm" and "dry" because they use "MASONITE" for insulation and "MULE-HIDE" shingles for the roof.

The Brainerd Co-op Creamery are improving their well equipped building with Storm Porches, Storm Sash and Storm Doors. This is going to mean a lot in added comfort and fuel economy this Winter.

A radio chain the other night put the opera "L'Amico Fritz" on the radio, but what we want to know is who, or what, it is that puts the radio on the Fritz in Brainerd?

Reading that tigers can climb trees makes us more firmly resolved than ever never to do any tiger hunting.

We'll say this for the election campaign, it never once ran out of gas.

Science has proved that fifty per cent of the married people here in the United States are women.

THE KNOT HOLE

Vol. 3 WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1928 No. 38

Published for the information and entertainment ment of the home-loving folks in Brainerd and vicinity by the Standard Lumber
Co. Paul H.
Schuldt, Editor.

Two tons of coal were stolen last Winter from every home in Brainerd that was not protected with our storm sash and weatherstripping.

About the best argument we heard in the present campaign was between a Democrat who is voting for Hoover and a Republican who is voting for Smith.

The "wets" who want to keep
"dry" and the
"drys" who don't want to get "wet" unanimously acclaim MULE-HIDE
as the logical candidate and sponsor his election.

School District
No. 35, Lake Edward Township, are building a fine new school house. It's going to be "warm" and "dry" because they use
"MASONITE" for insulation and
"MULE-HIDE" shingles for the roof.

The Brainerd
Co-op Creamery are improving their well equipped building with Storm Porches, Storm Sash and Storm Doors.
This is going to mean a lot in added comfort and fuel economy
this Winter.

A radio chain
the other night
put the opera
"L'Amico Fritz"
on the radio, but what we want to know is who, or what, it is that puts the radio on the Fritz in Brainerd?

Reading that tigers can climb trees makes us more firmly resolved than ever never to do any tiger hunting.

We'll say this for the election campaign, it never once ran out of gas.

Science has proved that fifty per cent of the married people here in the United States are women.

Figures that have attracted men: Venus de
Milo, September
Morn, Annette
Kellerman, Mae
Murray, Clara
Bow. Figures that have attracted women: $1.98.

GREET'S VICTORY WITH TIMID SMILE

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 6—(UP)—Herbert Hoover became president-elect of the United States tonight to his campaign aides at 8:43 P. M. Pacific time, when they chafed up 289 electoral votes for him on the blackboard in the living room of the candidate's home here on the San Juan Hill.

The total of 251 on the board was suddenly changed to 289 when they added Tennessee, Wisconsin and Iowa to the total on the basis of incoming reports of press associations.

Hoover, who earlier had told the United Press he was "happy" at the way the election was going, moved about a crowd of friends in the living room, shaking hands and accepting their congratulations.

It was announced Hoover would not make a statement until tomorrow despite the indications of victory.

At 8:45 Pacific coast time, chairs were placed in the living room and moving pictures of Hoover's campaign for the presidency which the audience regarded as successful, were thrown on a screen stretched across one side of the room.

During repeated answers Hoover sat, timidly rubbing his forehead, his eyes toward the floor, embarrassed.

There was a loud call for a speech. "Not tonight," he said. His victory was acclaimed vociferously a few moments later by several hundred Stanford university students who "stormed" San Juan Hill where the candidate's home is located, headed by John Phillip Sousa's famous band.

Majestic

7 tubes

Covers Brainerd like a Blanket

Not Only in Brainerd but all Over the United States

The choice of the people has been for the mighty Majestic, Monarch of the Air.

We Answer Some Pointed Questions About MAJESTIC

Question: What is the difference between the "dynamic" and the "magnetic" speaker?

Answer: The "dynamic" is a "power" speaker assisted by power tubes and an induction coil. The "magnetic" speaker depends upon magnetism entirely; no power tubes, no induction coil.

The magnetic speaker is splendid; but the SUPER-dynamic MAJESTIC is MAGNIFICENT.

Q.: What is the difference between the usual dynamic speaker and the SUPER-dynamic MAJESTIC speaker?

A.: Relatively, the ordinary dynamic speaker is like the ordinary passenger engine; while the SUPER-dynamic MAJESTIC is like the mighty "mogul" that pulls the million-dollar coast trains.

Q.: How can you state that the MAJESTIC at $137.50 and $167.50 (less tubes) is the full equal of its fellows selling at $450?

A.: Because it's a FACT! Many radio factories have been caught in the maelstrom of progress. They're square against walls of production limits; coral reefs of stocks of obsolete sets; hedgerows of patent restrictions that COMPEL them to buy most of their "parts" from other manufacturers.

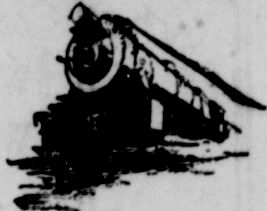

Whereas MAJESTIC makes every INCH of its products—even its own tools and gigantic stamping machines—in its own plants. Thereby, MAJESTIC SAVES as much as a dozen profits to other manufacturers and passes the SAVING to you.

Q.: I hear radios are going to be improved. Should I wait?

A.: CERTAINLY, if you're the "waiting" kind; and most of us are. When next year comes it's a ten-to-one chance that you'll conclude to wait a while longer—for more time, more pleasant weather, better conditions, etc., etc.

The fine thing about most people "waiting" is that getting delivery on a MAJESTIC is made so much easier for the fellow who DOESN'T wait—the fellow who knows that if you wait till the LAST improvement is made in EVERYTHING you'll never have ANYTHING. #### We Answer Some Pointed Questions About MAJESTIC

Question: What is the difference between the "dynamic" and the "magnetic" speaker?

Answer: The "dynamic" is a "power" speaker assisted by power tubes and an induction coil. The "magnetic" speaker depends upon magnetism entirely; no power tubes, no induction coil. The magnetic speaker is splendid; but the SUPER-dynamic MAJESTIC is MAGNIFICENT.

Q.: What is the difference between the usual dynamic speaker and the SUPER-dynamic MAJESTIC speaker?

A.: Relatively, the ordinary dynamic speaker is like the ordinary passenger engine; while the SUPER-dynamic MAJESTIC is like the mighty "mogul" that pulls the million-dollar coast trains.

Q.: How can you state that the MAJESTIC at $137.50 and $167.50 (less tubes) is the full equal of its fellows selling at $450?

A.: Because it's a FACT! Many radio factories have been caught in the maelstrom of progress. They're square against walls of production limits; coral reefs of stocks of obsolete sets; hedgerows of patent restrictions that COMPEL them to buy most of their "parts" from other manufacturers.

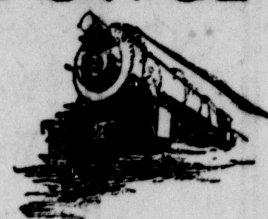

Whereas MAJESTIC makes every INCH of its products—even its own tools and gigantic stamping machines—in its own plants. Thereby, MAJESTIC SAVES as much as a dozen profits to other manufacturers and passes the SAVING to you.

Q.: I hear radios are going to be improved. Should I wait?

A.: CERTAINLY, if you're the "waiting" kind; and most of us are. When next year comes it's a ten-to-one chance that you'll conclude to wait a while longer—for more time, more pleasant weather, better conditions, etc., etc.

The fine thing about most people "waiting" is that getting delivery on a MAJESTIC is made so much easier for the fellow who DOESN'T wait—the fellow who knows that if you wait till the LAST improvement is made in EVERYTHING you'll never have ANYTHING. People who always live in the future miss all the great things of the present.

Drive a new Century Hupmobile and note the difference

Silence is so much a built-in feature of steeldraulic brakes, first adopted by Hupmobile a year ago, that the contrast is startling with other cars. Thousands who are driving their first Hupmobiles tell us that now, for the first time, they enjoy positive brake action without trace of squeak or chatter. Hupmobile brakes have 6 times the clearance of average brakes. Dragging or brake friction is thus eliminated and effective power increased from 10 to 15 per cent. In addition, the special moulded asbestos lining of Century brakes has three times the life of ordinary brake lining. Cars have been driven for 18 months without a single brake adjustment. These are facts you should know in selecting your next car. They will lead you straight to Hupmobile for the finest of mechanical qualities as well as undisputed leadership in style and beauty.

Forty-two body and equipment combinations, standard and custom, on each line. Six of the Century list prices: $1345 to $1645, plus delivery charges. Century Eight list prices: $1825 to $2125, plus delivery charges.

At the price of ordinary gasoline

Keep a record—watch your expenses—make comparisons—see for yourself how much LESS it costs to run your car on 400 "Extra Dry" than any other gasoline that sells at the regular price.

Full mileage from every gallon.
Yes—and that's only one of the many good results you may expect from this superior gasoline. Instant starting in any weather—swift getaway when the green light flashes—acceleration that thrills and exhilarates—and in addition to all this, a cleaner, sweeter-running motor with less expense for valve grinding and general overhauling.

The reason is plain—Shell Gasoline is refined by a revolutionary process that takes only the most volatile elements from the crude. It is extra dry, which means it is ALL gasoline. Every drop vaporizes—every particle is converted into power—there are no impurities or greasy particles to clog up the spark plugs, pass the pistons unburned and dilute the oil in the crankcase.

Treat your car to this better gasoline. You will find it on sale at all Shell yellow-red service stations and Shell Dealers at the regular price—not one cent extra for its extra quality, or the extra service it will give you.

HOOVER GAINS SAFE LEAD IN NORTHWEST

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover had a comfortable margin in the Northwest the first few hours tonight according to reports from Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

In the twin cities, where nearly half of the state's 1,000,000 estimated votes were cast, Hoover had a safe lead over his democratic opponent. The first 50 precincts in democratic St. Paul, showed the candidates running neck and neck, while in Minneapolis the balance swung heavily in favor of Hoover.

In South Dakota Hoover lead Smith by more than 10,000 while in North Dakota his lead was virtually the same.

In Stearns county 15 precincts out of 57 gave Hoover 1,974, Smith 5542.

Three precincts out of 48 in Morrison county gave Smith 290, Hoover 249.

St. Paul, Nov. 6.—(U.P.)—Chanhassen, the first village to report complete returns in Minnesota, gave Smith 70, Hoover 0. Senator Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, 75, Arthur E. Nelson, republican 1.

Do your brakes ADD... to the D/N of traffic ?

Drive a new Century Hupmobile and note the difference

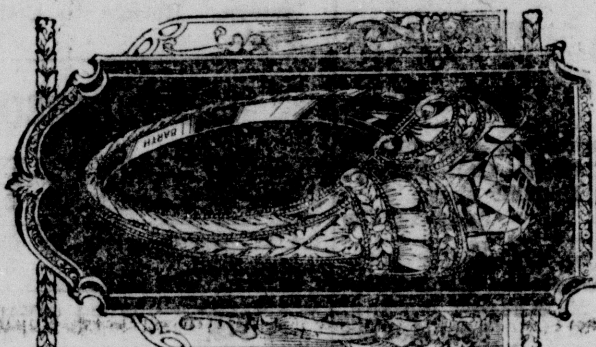

Silence is so much a built-in feature of steel hydraulic brakes, first adopted by Hupmobile a year ago, that the contrast is startling with other cars. Thousands who are driving their first Hupmobiles tell us that now, for the first time, they enjoy positive brake action without trace of squeak or chatter. Hupmobile brakes have 6 times the clearance of average brakes. Dragging or brake friction is thus eliminated and effective power increased from 10 to 15 per cent. In addition, the special moulded asbestos lining of Century brakes has three times the life of ordinary brake lining. Cars have been driven for 18 months without a single brake adjustment. These are facts you should know in selecting your next car. They will lead you straight to Hupmobile for the finest of mechanical qualities as well as undisputed leadership in style and beauty.

Forty-two body and equipment combinations, standard and custom, on each line. Six of the Century list prices: $1345 to $1645, plus delivery charges. Century Eight list prices: $1825 to $2125, plus delivery charges.

At the price of ordinary gasoline

Keep a record—watch your expenses—make comparisons—see for yourself how much LESS it costs to run your car on 400 "Extra Dry" than any other gasoline that sells at the regular price.

Full mileage from every gallon. Yes—and that's only one of the many good results you may expect from this superior gasoline. Instant starting in any weather—swift getaway when the green light flashes—acceleration that thrills and exhilarates—and in addition to all this, a cleaner, sweeter-running motor with less expense for valve grinding and general overhauling.

The reason is plain—Shell Gasoline is refined by a revolutionary process that takes only the most volatile elements from the crude. It is extra dry, which means it is ALL gasoline. Every drop vaporizes—every particle is converted into power—there are no impurities or greasy particles to clog up the spark plugs, pass the pistons unburned and dilute the oil in the crankcase.

Treat your car to this better gasoline. You will find it on sale at all Shell yellow-red service stations and Shell Dealers at the regular price—not one cent extra for its extra quality, or the extra service it will give you.

4 ADDITIONAL SENATE SEATS FOR G. O. P.

New York, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Republicans have a chance to increase their majority by 28 seats in the House of Representatives, congressional returns indicated early today when it had been made certain that republicans would gain at least four democratic senate seats and perhaps more.

Such a gain in the lower house would give the next house the following overwhelmingly republican lineup:

Republicans, 259; Democrats, 165. The gain of four senate seats would make the lineup in the upper house:

Republicans 51, Democrats 44, Farmer-Labor 1, vacancy 1.

The figures clearly indicated the Hoover landslide had assured the republican president-elect a strong house and a safe senate after his inauguration next March 4.

In addition to the apparent democratic senatorial defeats of Bayard, Delaware; Bruce, Maryland; Edwards, New Jersey, and Copeland, New York, there were indications at this hour Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts might be defeated, too, bringing the democratic casualty list to five.

Belated returns from the far west further buoyed republican expectations of an overwhelming majority in both houses of congress.

After four democratic senate chairs had been overturned in the east, republican senatorial candidates were defeating two more in the west at this hour. Ralph Cameron was leading the democratic incumbent Senator Ashurst in Arizona according to incomplete returns. K. McIntosh was ahead of the democratic incumbent, Senator Dill, in early Washington returns.

Figures for the house of representatives showed 225 republicans and 166 democrats already elected. There were 43 house seats in doubt including 12 now belonging to the republicans, 29 to the democrats, one to a socialist and one to a farmer-laborite. Republican candidates were leading in most of the doubtful districts and it seemed possible the republicans could pick up more than 20 democratic seats.

HOOVER'S LEAD IN MAINE IS 88,909

Portland, Me., Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Complete returns from the state of Maine gave Hoover 164,028, Smith 75,119. Hoover's plurality was 88,909.

Wisconsin Remains Republican Milwaukee, Nov. 6.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover's plurality in Wisconsin will exceed 125,000, according to indications at 11:30, with less than 200 precincts in the state missing. Returns from 2,579 precincts out of 2,764 in the state gave Hoover 473,120, Smith 349,470.

Walter J. Kohler, republican, has been elected governor.

Nebraska Goes Republican Omaha, Nov. 6.—(U.P.)—Returns from 239 Nebraska precincts complete, and 120 incomplete Omaha precincts at 10:45 P. M., gave Herbert Hoover a lead of more than 20,000 over Smith. The figures were Hoover 55,472, Smith 35,299.

Hoover Leads in West Virginia Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 6.—(U.P.)—Returns from 567 districts out of 2,306 in West Virginia gave Hoover 101,338, Smith 71,002.

Hoover is leading in Virginia with two-thirds of the state.

His vote was 86,805 against 79,963 for Smith. His majority was climbing rapidly and unless there is a sharp turn in the last precincts to report Hoover may crash into the solid South and capture the seat of the old confederacy.

Hoover seemed almost certain to carry Kentucky where he had a lead of 90,000 with two-thirds of the state tabulated.

HOOVER BREAKS SOLID SOUTH

Most Spectacular Victory In Years

Running for Office for First Time in His Life, Hoover Defeats a Veteran of Politics

First Time in Fifty Year That Republicans Have Broken Solid South, Hoover Also Winning New York

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

New York, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Herbert Hoover, of California has been elected president.

Running for office for the first time in his life, he defeated Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, a veteran master of politics, in one of the most spectacular victories in the history of American campaigns, according to nation-wide returns collected by the United Press today.

Hoover smashed the solid south—the first time the republicans have done so in fifty years.

Hoover also took Governor Smith's own state of New York with its great block of forty-five electoral votes.

On the basis of United Press from all sections of the country the tabulations today stood as follows:

Electoral vote:
Hoover, 404. Smith, 69. Doubtful, 59.

Popular vote:
Total, 21,919,738. Hoover, 12,447,179. Smith, 9,472,559.

Hoover majority, 2,974,620.
Hoover also has carried both houses of congress with him by increased republican majorities. The republican insurgents have apparently lost their balance of power in the senate.

Voting broke all records, and the count was still incomplete early today.

But it was sufficient to reveal that the American voters, in numbers never before mobilized, have spoken firmly for continuation of the policies of the Coolidge administration upon which Hoover based his appeal for election.

Crushing as Smith's defeat has been—Hoover's electoral vote exceeds that of the Coolidge landslide—he has demonstrated great popularity and the actual vote is closer than the ratio in the electoral college.

The most surprising element of Smith's defeat was his loss of New York state, the state which has four times elected him governor, once in face of a Coolidge landslide.

Equally surprising was the breaking of the solid south—and Hoover's victory in old Virginia, the mother of presidents and capital of the old Confederacy.

All through the south, except in South Carolina and Louisiana, Hoover polled tremendous votes.

Smith, however, ran up a heavy vote in Massachusetts.
Governor Smith took Rhode Island out of the doubtful column when he carried it by the slender margin of 1,493 votes according to unofficial returns, which gave Smith 118,951; Hoover 117,458.

North Carolina, heretofore considered as certain to be carried by Smith, turned somewhat to the doubtful list today when Hoover took the lead and held an advantage of approximately 9,000 with counting nearing completion.

Hoover's election was conceded by the New York World and New York Times, pro-Smith newspapers, within three hours after the heavy returns began to come in last night.

About one A. M. today Governor Smith, facing the cold figures as they poured in, admitted defeat and sent a telegram to Hoover which said:

"I congratulate you heartily on your victory and extend to you my sincere good wishes for your health and happiness and for the success of your administration."

Governor Smith's campaign strategy in the farm belt appeared to have failed completely. Hoover carried the farm belt solidly despite his refusal to endorse the McNary-Haugen bill in any respect.

In the east, Smith piled up tremendous votes but here again his strategy did not carry him through. He ignored dry sentiment in the south, believing those states would remain democratic.

While Hoover was expected to run strong in the south, few anticipated the turnover in Virginia and the strong race in Florida and Texas. Religion and prohibition were the big factors in all of the southern states.

It was Mrs. Smith's birthday and as the returns began to go against him, her disappointment added to the keenness of his. Yet he took it as part of the game and almost as soon as newspapers supporting him conceded his defeat, he sent his congratulations to his opponents.

Hoover received the returns with his family in the study of his home at Palo Alto, Calif. He helped chalk the tabulations on a blackboard.

From now on Hoover belongs to the nation. He now loses much of his privacy and comes, with his family, under the spotlight this nation turns upon its White House family.

In Hoover, the nation has selected a new type of chief executive—a product of the new machine age. Hoover is the first engineer to be made president and is the first in many years to step into the White House without having run for any lesser office, though he has held appointive positions of great trust and honor.

In 1920, after being urged to run for the democratic presidential nomination, he finally said he was a republican and he was then entered as a candidate at the Chicago republican national convention. However, he made no progress, receiving only 9 1/2 votes.

President Harding appointed Hoover secretary of commerce where he served for seven and a half years, resigning soon after being nominated for president last summer.

Hoover had a hard fight for the presidential nomination. It was not until William S. Vare of Pennsylvania declared for Hoover at the Kansas City convention that the balance was swung in his favor.

Hoover and Smith offered the voters an absolute contrast in personalities and types of appeal. Whereas Governor Smith made his presidential campaign in the same good-humored, informal way he had conducted his campaigns for governor, Hoover adopted a reserved method, making less than a dozen speeches.

Hoover defended prohibition, and promised to call an extra session of congress to deal with farm relief. He opposed entry of government into business except where necessary for special reasons.

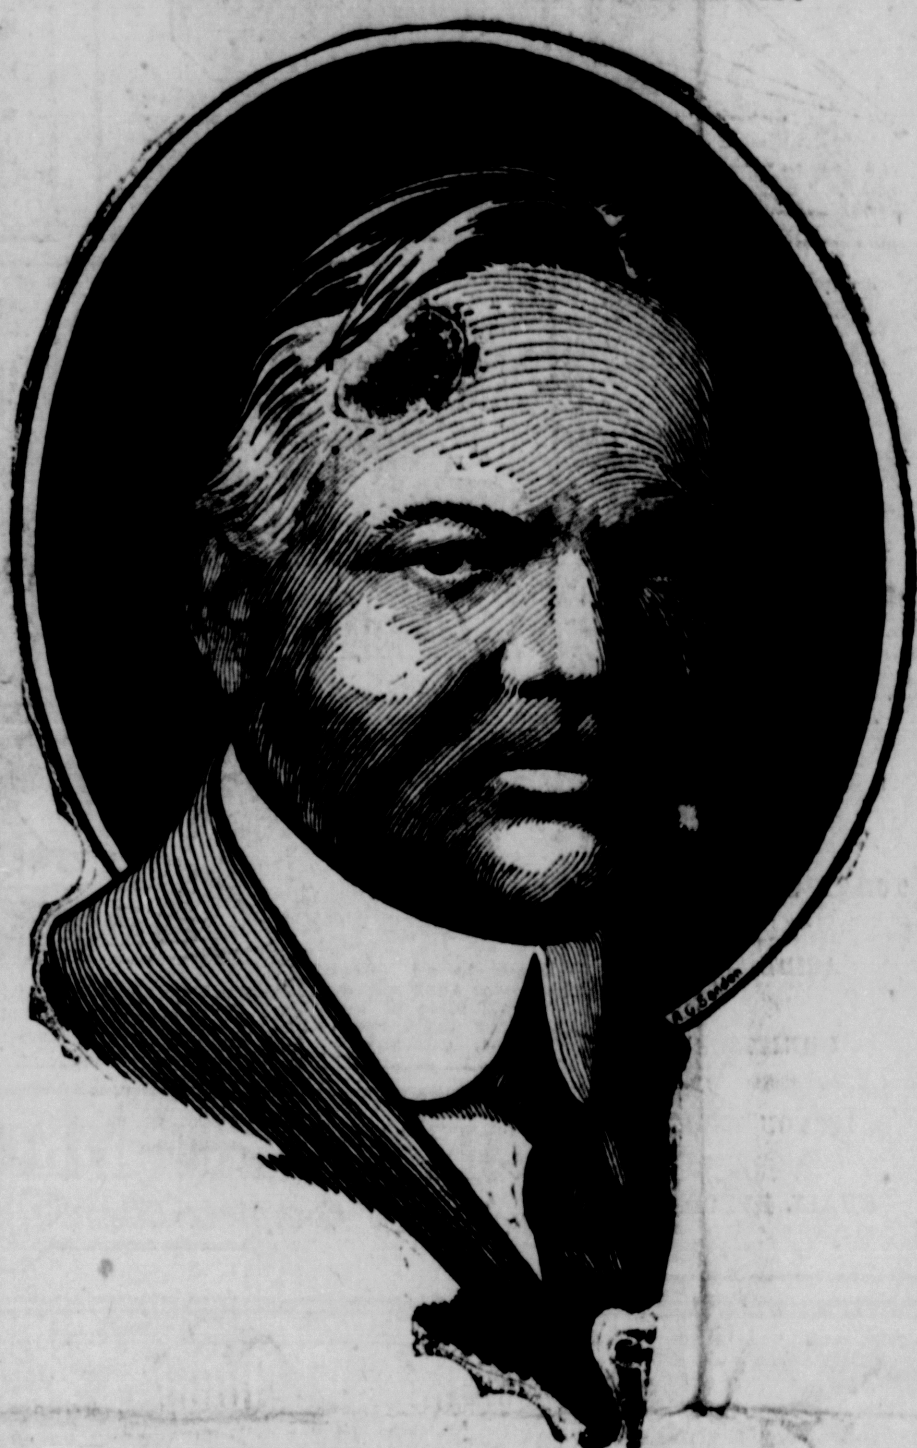

Women of the nation turned out as never before and voted in large majorities for Hoover. He appealed to many of them because of his defense of prohibition. In many states the result may have been decided by the vote of the women.

In only two southern states did Hoover fail to register an impressive vote—South Carolina and Louisiana. He has carried the entire border, including Maryland, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri and Oklahoma.

His victory in Virginia and his close race in Florida and Texas surpassed all expectations on the part of his managers. They had hoped to get North Carolina but lost that.

While Smith had no victories to his credit in the farm belt, he regis-

New York, Nov. 7.—Herbert Hoover will have a stronger republican congress working with him after March 4 than President Coolidge had.

Republicans have captured four democratic seats in the senate and three in the house and their chances are excellent for increasing these gains in the closely fought contests still being counted in wavering states.

There were five democratic senate seats which hung so narrowly in the balance that the result could not be announced twelve hours after the polls had closed. Inasmuch as not a single republican seat seemed still at stake, it was reasonable to assume the republicans have been able to kill the insurgent balance of power in the senate.

The doubtful house contests were being even more closely fought, some resting among 100 disputed votes. It was a reasonable assumption that the republican gains in the house might reach as many as 20 of the democratic chairs.

In this situation the line-up of the senate stood:
Republicans 52, democrats 36, doubtful democrats 5, vacancies 2.

The house line-up was:
Republicans 239, democrats 164, doubtful 29 (republicans 7, democrats 22).

And in progressive Wisconsin, the combined efforts of the LaFollette forces, failed to protect him against a heavy Hoover vote.

HOME TOWN BOY WINS GREATEST HONOR IN NATION

West Branch, Ia., Nov. 7.—(UP)—The citizens of West Branch, who voted 12 to 1 for Herbert Hoover, their home town boy, for president, arose early today, donned their Sunday clothes and prepared for a celebration of celebrations.

Flags and bunting festooned Main street. Hoover's old home and the swimmin' hole were objects of interest again.

There will be speeches to commemorate the victory, for it isn't a regular thing for a West Branch boy to be elected president. Gov. John Hammill will be the chief speaker and it's likely some of Herb's boyhood friends will be so moved by the occasion they will express their feelings from the platform.

The vote—528 for Hoover and 46 for Smith—was 100 higher than ever before. Everybody who could reach the polling place—and that was the entire eligible population of the village—cast a ballot and cast it early.

Even some of the rabid democrats deserted the party and voted for the village hero.

Newt Butler, the restaurant man, formerly a democrat, voted for his boyhood chum and wanted to know "what of it?"

"A fellow can vote for the boy he liked, can't he? Having a personal friend in the White House means something."

Palo Alto, Calif., Nov. 7.—President-elect Hoover faced the future today, ready to start within a few days laying plans for his administration.

Looking down the vista of the days ahead, he saw vast problems pressing for solution—problems as great as any confronting the country since the close of the war.

He will probably remain here a month, resting and considering his course as president. Then he will probably return to Washington about Dec. 15, taking a trip somewhere before he leaves for the east.

Selection of the cabinet is the first problem before him. He has given some thought to that, and will give more within the next few weeks.

Paramount among all problems which Hoover will face when he enters the White House is farm relief. He has promised to call an extra session of congress to deal with that after March 4, if adequate legislation is not adopted at the coming short session, which does not seem likely.

Hoover will give considerable attention to farm relief within the next few weeks. He intends to go into the whole situation carefully and to have a definite formula worked out to present to congress.

He had returned there at 2 A. M., one of the worst beaten men in politics, outstripped by Herbert Hoover in the presidential race. Leaving orders not to be disturbed, he planned to sleep until around noon.

His future plans are indefinite, but some of his associates suggested he would probably take a week or fortnight vacation with some friends. Several retreats have been offered him.

NEW YORK CITY VOTE COMPLETE

New York, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Complete presidential election returns in Greater New York city today gave Smith, 1,118,645; Hoover, 683,895.

SMITH CARRIED ST. PAUL BY SLIM 3,000 MAJORITY

SENATOR SHIPSTEAD HAS LARGE LEAD OVER ARTHUR E. NELSON IN SENATE RACE

ALMOST ENTIRE REPUBLICAN TICKET SWEEP INTO OFFICE WITH CHRISTIANSON

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Herbert Hoover early today was assured of Minnesota's 12 electoral votes by a majority of perhaps 100,000.

Returns from 1,541 of the state's 3,762 precincts gave:

Hoover, 279,463.

Smith, 198,742.

Governor Smith carried St. Paul by the slim majority of about 3,000 votes. With almost complete returns, Smith had 49,354 votes compared to 46,425 for Hoover. The race was disappointing to democrats at the capitol since Smith was expected to carry the city by a majority of 25,000 votes.

Shipstead also carried the capitol city, despite the fact that it is the home town of Nelson. Almost complete returns gave the senator 65,304 and Nelson 32,826. Every ward in the city, including the one in which Nelson resides, gave Shipstead a comfortable majority.

Governor Christianson likewise ran far ahead here, his 46,903 votes almost the total of those received by his opponents. Nelson ran second with 27,936 and Lundeen third with 20,867.

At the same time Senator Henrik Shipstead, farmer-labor, had an apparent lead of 100,000 over Arthur E. Nelson, his republican opponent and Governor Theodore Christianson had a similar overwhelming majority over Andrew Nelson, Duluth, democrat, and Ernest Lundeen, farmer-labor.

The reported 1,541 precincts gave Shipstead 229,774 and Nelson 159,873.

Governor Christianson in 746 precincts received 108,045; Nelson, 53,985; Lundeen, 65,375.

Virtually the entire republican ticket was swept into office with Hoover and Christianson. These included: Lieutenant Governor W. I. Nolan; secretary of state Mike Holm; state treasurer, Julius A. Schmah; attorney general, C. A. Youngquist; railroad and warehouse commission, C. J. Laurisch.

Justice Clifford L. Hilton, running without party designation, was likewise returned.

In the congressional race, nine republicans and one farmer-labor, O. J. Kvale, Benson, seventh district, appeared to be victorious. Kvale, with more than half the votes counted, was leading by a 2 to 1 majority.

Other apparent victors were: all republicans second district, Frank Clague, incumbent, Redwood Falls, 110 precincts out of 372, 11,463; Cashel, Worthington, democrat, 4,209. Third district, Andresen, incumbent, 103 precincts out of 304, 5,647; Arens, Jordan, farmer-labor, 2,375; Kolars, LeSueur Center, democrat, 989. Fourth district, 220 precincts, Maas, incumbent, 3,356; Dolan, democrat, 27,474; Williams, farmer-labor, 20,473. Fifth district, Newton, incumbent, 50 precincts, 12,067; Johnson, farmer-labor, 4,968; Robertson, democrat, 5,364; Votaw, workers, 122. Sixth district 102 precincts out of 504, Knutson, incumbent, S. Cloud, 4,725; Knusen, St. Cloud, farmer-labor, 14,332. Eighth district, Pittenger, Duluth, 116 precincts out of 519, 3,960; Carss, farmer-labor, incumbent, Duluth, 2,176. Ninth district, Selvig, Crookston, incumbent, 135 precincts out of 547, 13,367; Wefald, farmer-labor, Hawley, 6,098. Tenth district, 126 precincts out of 318, Goodwin, Cambridge, incumbent, 19,627; Erickson, Minneapolis, democrat, 12,748; Hedlund, farmer-labor, Minneapolis, 12,036.

First Time in Fifty Year That Republicans Have Broken Solid South, Hoover Also Winning New York

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

New York, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Herbert Hoover, of California has been elected president.

Running for office for the first time in his life, he defeated Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, a veteran master of politics, in one of the most spectacular victories in the history of American campaigns, according to nation-wide returns collected by the United Press today.

Hoover smashed the solid south—the first time the republicans have done so in fifty years.

Hoover also took Governor Smith's own state of New York with its great block of forty-five electoral votes.

On the basis of United Press from all sections of the country the tabulations today stood as follows:

Electoral vote:
Hoover, 404. Smith, 69. Doubtful, 59.

Popular vote:

FIRST DECADE OF PEACE AFTER THE ARMISTICE

10 YEARS AGO WORLD FACED THE TASK OF RECON- STRUCTION

NO HUMAN HAND COULD ERASE ALL SCARS LEFT BY THE WAR

New York, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The morning of Nov. 11 mark the end of the first decade of peace. Ten years ago, an armistice brought to an end the most costly conflict in history and a war-weary world was faced with the vast task of reconstruction.

It was impossible, of course, to repair all the ravages. The dead could not be resurrected.

No human hand could erase all the scars left by the war god. But torn minds and torn bodies could be made to heal devastated lands could be made to bloom once more, and the world's factories could produce plow shares as well as swords.

There was another goal, if reached, would ease the pain of memories. That was the ideal of continuous peace.

Ten years after it is fitting to look back and to look forward. The Brainerd Daily Dispatch soon will present one of the most elaborate series of articles ever made available to the reading public.

The United Press has gathered from its many bureaus the views of men prominent in war and in peace, the news of the condition of the battlefronts today—stories from world-wide sources that will give you a vivid picture of the present and a comprehension of contemporary thought.

Webb Miller, a United Press staff correspondent, has been assigned to travel over the war areas of France and Belgium to see what has been done in the enormous work of reconstruction. He will report his findings in a series of four articles to begin Nov. 12.

Articles by Thomas Beer, noted novelist and biographer; Sir Eric Drummond, general secretary of the League of Nations; Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in President Wilson's cabinet; Gen. Peyton C. March, former chief of staff of the United States army; Mrs. George Gordon Siebold, president of the American Old Star Mothers, and Count Alfred M. P. Von Oberndorf, German delegate at the armistice negotiations, are among the features which will appear in The Brainerd Daily Dispatch.

In addition, there will be stories on how the private citizen in each of the major European countries has been affected by the war's aftermath, an account of the League of Nations' accomplishments and hopes, a report on the many soldiers who still are fighting a great battle—that for health.

Follow the story of the armistice anniversary and the accomplishments of peace and rehabilitation in this newspaper.

FIRST DECADE OF PEACE AFTER THE ARMISTICE

10 YEARS AGO WORLD FACED THE TASK OF RECON-STRUCTION

NO HUMAN HAND COULD ERASE
THE WAR

New York, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The morning of Nov. 11 will mark the end of the first decade of peace. Ten years ago, an armistice brought to an end the most costly conflict in history and a war-weary world was faced with the vast task of reconstruction.

It was impossible, of course, to repair all the ravages. The dead could not be resurrected.

No human hand could erase all the scars left by the war god. But torn minds and torn bodies could be made to heal devastated lands which could be made to bloom once more, and the world's factories could produce plow shares as well as swords.

There was another goal, if reached, would ease the pain of memories. That was the ideal of continuous peace.

Ten years after it is fitting to look back and to look forward. The Brainerd Daily Dispatch soon will present one of the most elaborate series of articles ever made available to the reading public.

The United Press has gathered from its many bureaus the views of men prominent in war and in peace, the news of the condition of the battlefronts today—stories from world-wide sources that will give you a vivid picture of the present and a comprehension of contemporary thought.

Webb Miller, a United Press staff correspondent, has been assigned to travel over the war areas of France and Belgium to see what has been done in the enormous work of reconstruction. He will report his findings in a series of four articles to begin Nov. 12.

Articles by Thomas Beer, noted novelist and biographer; Sir Eric Drummond, general secretary of the League of Nations; Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in President Wilson's cabinet; Gen. Peyton C. March, former chief of staff of the United States army; Mrs. George Gordon Siebold, president of the American Gold Star Mothers, and Count Alfred M. F. Von Oberndorf, German delegate at the armistice negotiations, are among the features which will appear in The Brainerd Daily Dispatch.

In addition, there will be stories on how the private citizen in each of the major European countries has been affected by the war's aftermath, an account of the League of Nations' accomplishments and hopes, a report on the many soldiers who still are fighting a great battle—that for health.

Follow the story of the armistice anniversary and the accomplishments of peace and rehabilitation in this newspaper.

HOOVER'S TRIUMPH

AMERICA is not yet dominated by its great cities. Control of its destinies still remain in the smaller communities and rural regions with their traditional conservatism and solid virtues, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press. Herbert Hoover appealed to the homes and firesides of the nation and has been elected president by a great majority, in which the votes of women undoubtedly played a leading part. In his addresses Mr. Hoover repeatedly stressed this note saying:

I do not wish to disparage the usefulness of Broadway, Pennsylvania avenue or State street, but it is from Main street and its countryside that the creative energies of this nation must be replenished and restored. From the homes of America must emanate that purity of inspiration only as a result of which we can succeed in self government.

Even in populous New York this appeal was effective. The enormous Democratic majority of 400,000 in New York City was not sufficient to overcome the greater response of rural voters. With the loss of New York state, all hopes of Governor Smith winning the election vanished, for this was the crucial battleground, the salient angle of the political contest. There he had been given tremendous tributes in repeated elections as governor, but the majority of his constituents were not willing to trust him higher with control of government at Washington. A wide gulf still exists between the sidewalks of New York and the White House.

It becomes increasingly evident that the nation prefers the policies of the Republican party and its management of public affairs that have brought unprecedented prosperity to the country. Thrice since the great War, the Democratic party has assailed the strongly entrenched position of its dominant rivals, each time with shifting policies and points of attack. The battle of 1920 was to continue the foreign policy of President Wilson. In 1924, the Democrats turned to extreme conservatism, and in 1928 they reversed to extreme liberalism. Each attempt has been disastrous failure.

There will be endless discussion of the causes of this latest defeat. The effects of prohibition, of religion, of tariff, of farm relief and numerous other issues will be debated without definite decision. There is demonstrated the futility of a party divided in opinion, without fixed policies and straddling the sentiments of great sections, attempting to overthrow a rival that has given proof of ability to govern with success and to the satisfaction of a large majority of the people.

To Herbert Hoover himself is due much of the credit for the Republican party's victory. In achievements, in ability, in character, in that blend of idealism with practical application that makes particular appeal to the American people, he represents the type of man the nation prefers to honor.

Despite various sectional revolts, such as that of the farmers in the West, and of the liberals in the East, the country at large is content to confide in Mr. Hoover, assured of his competence to alleviate distress, to adjust inequalities of economic conditions, to meet debatable problems and to administer the great affairs of government.

Minnesota and its neighboring states appear to have joined in this tribute to Mr. Hoover and retained their allegiance to Republican principles.

Main street is still the principal thoroughfare of the nation.

HOOVER WINS MOMENTOUS VICTORY

THE BRAINERD DISPATCH which supported Hoover before he was a candidate for the presidency, congratulates him on the splendid victory he has achieved.

Hoover faced a seasoned campaigner, a man who in his political life had scored but one defeat.

Hoover made few speeches, but through it all enunciated a constructive policy. Take the case of the farmers. The man who knew how to dispose of a surplus of food, who persuaded the allies to take their allotments, who aided the farmers in their disposal of hogs raised on war basis, such a food administrator can surely cope with any problems of peace.

Hoover will be a president for the whole United States. In one of his addresses he pleaded for obliteration of sectionalism, that there be no north, no south, no west, no east.

Hoover is a man personally known to scores of people in Crow Wing county. As a mining engineer his acquaintance has been wide and varied.

The northwest and middle west are looking to great engineering works championed by Hoover to offer a solution of many difficulties now besetting this area. Hoover has championed them and we look to him as a real saviour.

Through the whole campaign Hoover maintained a clear, unruffled, calm demeanor. He never lost his poise. He never descended to personalities. He never employed sarcasm or ridicule in his addresses.

He will be a president for the whole United States. Give him the cooperation he desires and this country will flourish and continue in the walks of peace and prosperity.

MEN, MACHINES AND JOBS

DR. JULIUS KLEIN of the department of commerce has been studying the effect of labor-saving developments in industry on employment.

He finds that fewer and fewer men are doing more and more work. In a little over ten years the average production per worker has increased 211 per cent in rubber manufacturing, eighty-three per cent in petroleum refining, sixty-one per cent in cement production, forty per cent in flour milling and 172 per cent in the automobile industry.

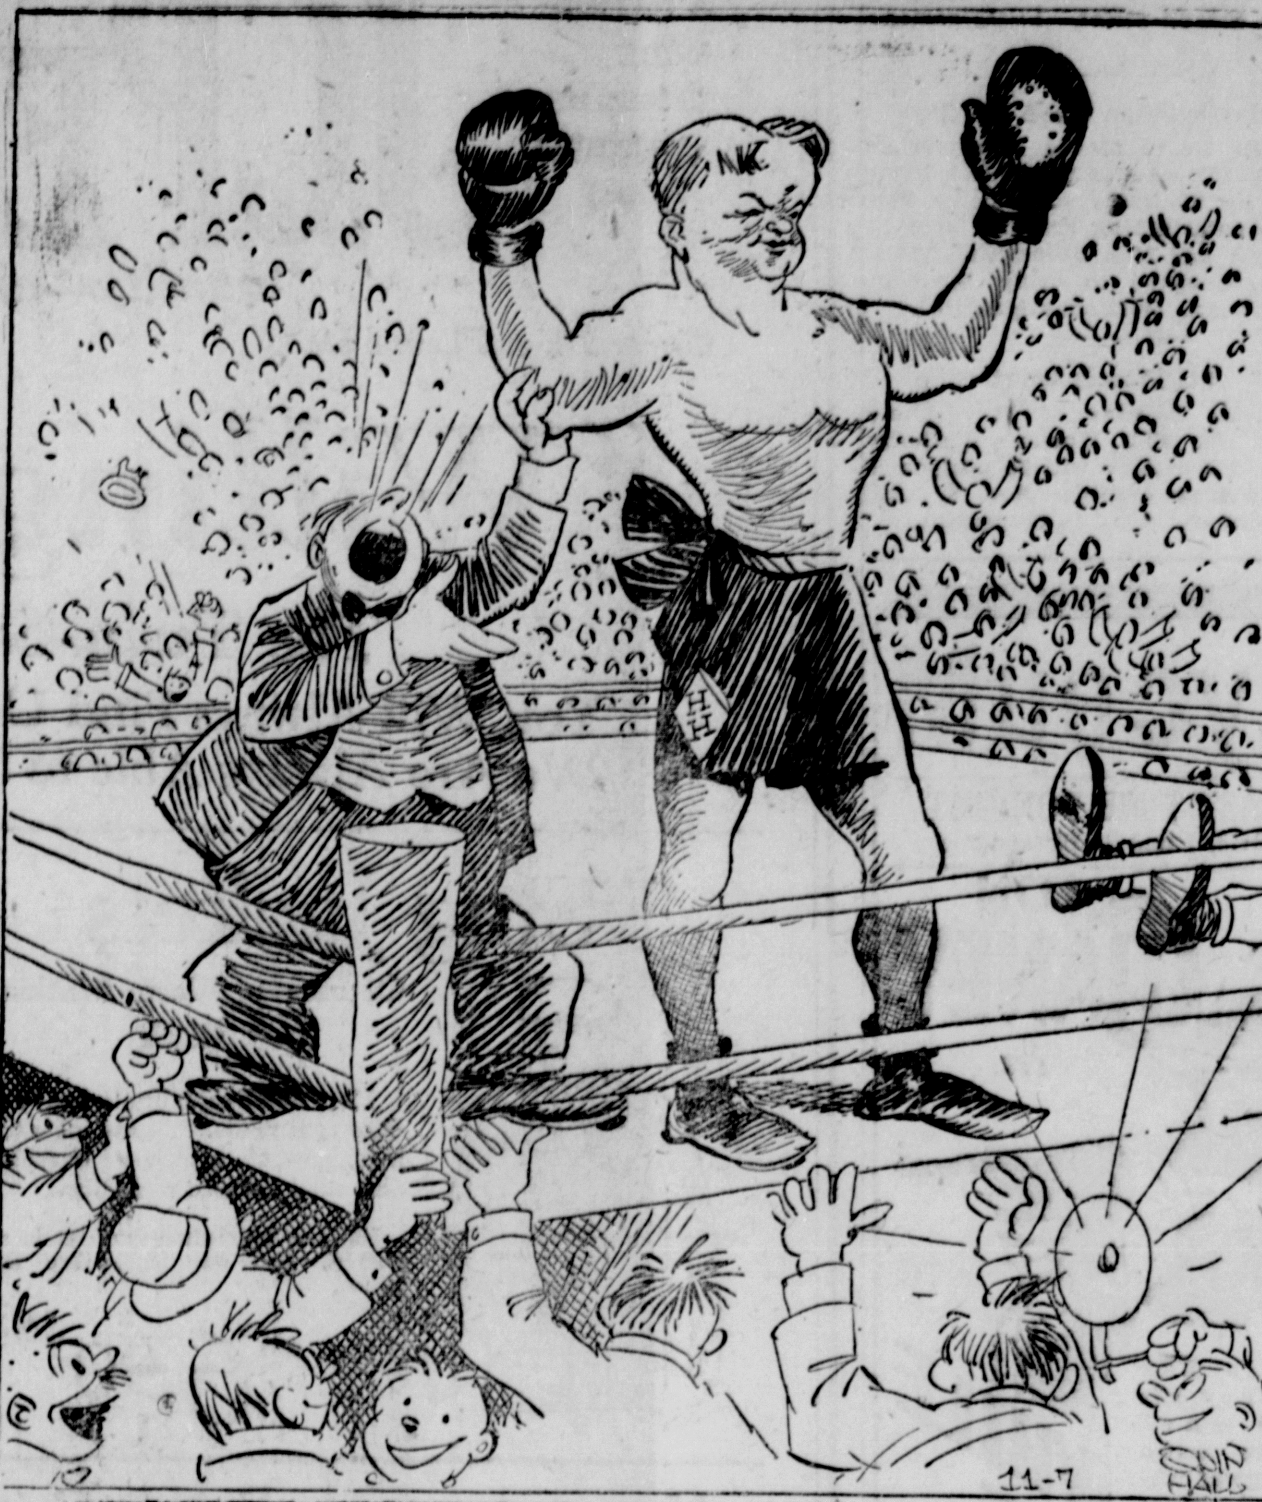

A factory worker now turns out thirty-two thousand razor blades in the time it took him to make five hundred in 1913. Bottle-makers who used to turn out seventy-seven bottles in an hour now turn out three thousand. And so it goes. If there were like figures available on the production of iron ore in the Minnesota mining district they would be equally interesting.

The sum of all that is that the factories of the country are now turning out their greatly increased production with nine hundred thousand fewer workers than they employed in 1920.

Does that mean that these men, losing their jobs, have been idle ever since? Far from it; for the conclusion of Dr. Klein's study is encouraging, not disheartening.

The fewer men employed get much better wages than they used to. They are getting some, at least, of the benefits of improved machinery and methods. Getting better wages, they can spend more, and do spend more. The result of that is the stimulation of other activities so that more men are employed, on the whole, than before.—Duluth Herald.

COW SHOULD PAY $192 FOR KEEP

With cows, as with automobiles, it isn't the first cost, it's the upkeep.

For proof of that statement rural economists at the Ohio State university offer records kept for five years by twenty Medina county dairymen, their herds totaling 183 cows. The net cost, not subtracting the credit of $9.05 for manure and $6.83 for a calf, averages $208.35.

Feed is the big item. It totals, including a charge for pasture, $107.92. The grain and other concentrates necessary to keep a cow in production throughout the year cost an average of $50.14. The roughage including the silage, hay, stover, pasture, cost $57.78.

Labor, the next biggest item, costs an average of $43.36 per cow. The other costs, to make up the gross cost of $208.35, include straw bedding, taxes, insurance, depreciation, etc.

In order to let her owner break even at prevailing milk prices, this average cow should produce at least 7,000 pounds of milk a year. The average cow among the 183 Medina county cows just about did, producing 7,386 pounds of milk a year, worth about $197.21, giving her owner a profit of not quite 35.

The cows that make for profit, the economists point out, are those that produce at least nine or ten thousand pounds of milk a year.

Fish Coloration

Protective coloration is well developed in fishes. Fish that come out of deep water with sandy or rocky bottoms are silvery in color. Those that come from mud bottom or from dark waters are dark in color. Young fry in hatcheries quickly assume the color of their surroundings. Those that are placed in white troughs become almost transparent.

Cheering for a Winner

By QUIN HALL.

Now that the big Fall classic held every four years is all washed up, we present a picture of Major Frank Cavanaugh with his megaphone and in a cheering position. Just for whom the Major is cheering will probably always remain a mystery. But at Fordham Field, in New York City, where he is coaching the Fordham football squad, the Major has the reputation of liking to be with winners, so you can write your own ticket.

This pose of the Major's has nothing to do with politics and merely shows him at a critical moment during his daily grind. After winning his two opening games—which might be considered in the light of work-outs—Fordham lost to a strong New York University eleven, 34-7. But even in this defeat the Maroons showed stronger than last year, when the same school whitewashed them, 32-0.

At the start of the season Major Cavanaugh had hopes and a great bunch of freshmen turned sophomores, who, as freshmen, had piled up 240 points against their 1927 schedule. "Cav" had two veteran backs in Johnny Gripp and Frank Rant around which he was called upon to build up a 'varsity aggregation. He had a great raft of material, but most of it was inexperienced in 'varsity play. In fact the Fordham mentor had so much timber that he decided to try out the two-team system used by such fellows as Rockne at Notre Dame. The wealth of candidates for the team convinced "Cav" that he could use four different backfields, each a complete unit with a punter, a signal caller, one good ball carrier and an interferer.

Fordham is set against tough opposition Saturday when it meets Boston College, the team which earlier in the season humbled the Navy. The Bostonites beat the Maroons last season, 27-7, but Fordham didn't fare so well last year, winning only three games in an eight-game schedule. Victories were scored against Bethany, Lebanon Valley and Providence, while they bowed in defeat before N. Y. U., George Washington, Boston College, Holy Cross and Georgetown.

Next Saturday the Maroons face a new rival when they play Detroit University on their own home lot in New York. A week later they face their yearly rival, Georgetown, at the Polo Grounds in the Big Town. This should be one of the best "crowd" games on the Fordham schedule. The coming struggle on Saturday should go quite a way in establishing just the strength of this year's Maroon team. Last year the Detroit institution lost only to Army and Notre Dame and this gives a line on what may be expected by the Fordham rooters.

Cavanaugh, on the whole, is better equipped this year than last, when he was forced to start his work at Fordham with a spotty team. The Major is a capable mentor. His knack of turning out winning teams was proved by his work at Dartmouth before the war and later at Boston College, after serving as a leader of men in the Big Six during 1917 and 1918. Last year his work at the Maroon camp was handicapped by some serious eye trouble.

The situation at Fordham at the start of the season was rather peculiar. Instead of taking 'varsity material and adding a few freshman candidates, he had to take a crowd of last year's freshmen and add in the leftovers. And the leftovers were nothing to cause cheers from the racoon-coated followers of the school.

Major Cavanaugh, even with enough material to build several teams, is finding this year's trip a rock-strewn path, but the pugnacious mentor is hopeful of bettering last year's record and thus qualifying to furnish the season sneering for a winner.

New York, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey has started training again—not for a fight but to reduce his waistline. When his show, "The Big Fight," closed in New Haven he weighed 197. Yesterday he weighed 205.

To get some of the surplus flesh off Dempsey worked 10 rounds on the pulleys, the light bags, heavy bags and in shadow boxing, at a downtown gym.

After the workout, Dempsey said "I'm not coming back. I'm never coming back."

Did you know that the colorful lily and the pungent onion were close relatives in the plant family? They are not only similar in physical characteristics but grow best under similar conditions, explains the Farm Journal. # COUNTY BALLOT DRAWS BIG VOTE

Congressman Harold Knutson Obtains Large Majority Over His Opponent

LEGISLATIVE RESULTS

County Commissioners Draw Large Votes in the Three Districts Contested

The county ticket disclosed many interesting contests. Complete totals are unavailable. Some results however, are not in doubt and no recourse to an adding machine is necessary. For instance, Congressman Harold Knutson, republican, was victor by a large majority over his opponent, John Knutson, farmer-labor.

Judge Graham M. Torrance faced no opposition in his return as judge of the 15th district.

In the legislative contest for representative-at-large 25 precincts including the second precinct of the 3rd ward gave Edward P. Scallion, incumbent, 1,673 votes and Albert C. Bosel, 971. In Morrison county with roughly one-third of the precincts heard from, Mr. Scallion polled 2,412 votes and Mr. Bosel 816. Adding the balance of Brainerd precincts to the totals of the two as given for 25 precincts and in which the fourth and first wards are incomplete, Scallion has 3,816 and Bosel 1,814.

For representative Crow Wing county 24 outside precincts and the seven of Brainerd (the latter including the incomplete first and fourth wards) give A. M. Opsahl of Brainerd 3,402 and William A. Syreen of Ironton 3,045.

Judge L. B. Kinder of the probate court faced no opposition whatever.

Vote for County Commissioner

The precincts of Roosevelt, Nokay Lake, Long Lake, Oak Lawn, Crow Wing, St. Mathias, Garrison, Deerwood township, Fort Ripley, Bay Lake, Platte Lake, Maple Grove and the Village of Deerwood, 13 precincts, give John Dewing 1,083 and Albert T. Nelson 678. There is no doubt about the re-election of John Dewing as commissioner of the first district.

One precinct in the fifth district, Ironton, gives E. R. Burns, the incumbent, 118 and Archie B. Johnstone 260. The contest for this office is in doubt until full returns are received.

The third district is composed of the First, Fourth and Fifth wards. The fifth ward complete and the first and fourth wards incomplete, give A. G. Anderson, the incumbent, 738 votes and John Holvick 861.

The National and State Tickets

Quoting no figures, winners in Crow Wing county on the presidential ballot are Hoover and Curtis.

On the state ballot are U. S. Senator Henrik Shipstead, Governor Theodore Christianson, Lieutenant Governor W. I. Nolan, Secretary of State Mike Holm, State Treasurer Julius A. Schmah, Attorney General G. A. Youngquist, Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner Christian J. Laurisch and Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Clifford L. Hilton.

Pennsylvania, upon which Democratic National Chairman Raskob built high hopes and spent much cash, was running ten to six for Hoover.

New York, Nov. 7.—With more than 26,000,000 of some possible 40,000,000 votes tabulated in the greatest election in American history, Herbert Hoover was assured the American presidency today with the heaviest popular vote ever given a candidate.

At 1:30 P. M. he already had within 1,000,000 ballots of the record 16,152,200 set by Warren G. Harding in 1920.

His opponent, Alfred E. Smith, had polled more votes than any other democratic nominee ever did, but he was trailing Hoover by more than 4,000,000 votes and his electoral college total was the smallest a major candidate ever received.

Smith apparently had won only Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, for a total of 87 electoral votes.

SMITH SENDS BEST WISHES TO OPPONENT

New York, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Governor Alfred E. Smith, at 12:45 A. M. today conceded that he had lost the race for the presidency.

He sent the following telegram to Herbert Hoover:

"I congratulate you heartily on your victory and extend to you my sincere good wishes for your health and happiness, and for the success of your administration."

precincts reported at noon today gave Hoover a majority of 113,000 over Smith. The count was 1,934 precincts, Hoover 395,063; Smith, 281,966.

Senator Henrik Shipstead, farmer-labor, incumbent, meanwhile piled up an even greater majority over Arthur E. Nelson, his republican opponent. In the nearly 2,000 precincts Shipstead polled 364,740 votes and Nelson 200,614.

It was generally believed that Shipstead's complete majority would be in the neighborhood of 200,000, said to establish a record in Minnesota. There was little attempt on the part of Nelson's backers to explain the tremendous Shipstead sentiment in the face of the republican landslide both in Minnesota and surrounding states.

St. Paul, Nelson's home town, was among the flockers to the Shipstead camp, having given the former mayor less than half the ballot than that of Shipstead. In Minneapolis, Duluth and in southern Minnesota, where Shipstead's strength was reputed to be powerful the sentiment was likewise almost entirely on the side of Shipstead.

In the majority of the other races the republican ticket was swept into office with Hoover, the leader.

St. Louis county, complete, gave Hoover 11,030, Smith 5,884, while Koochiching, another northern Minnesota county, reported that 14 precincts gave Hoover 1,663; Smith 1,231. St. Louis county gave Sen. Shipstead 10,786; Nelson, 7,174.

The tremendous vote given Sen. Shipstead is indicated by the following scattered returns from outside the Twin Cities:

Waseca county: Shipstead, 4,298; Nelson, 2,027.

Dodge county: Shipstead, 1,935; Nelson, 1,569.

Mower county: Shipstead, 5,775; Nelson, 2,554.

Carver county: Shipstead, 4,304; Nelson, 2,065.

Morrison county, 13 of 48 precincts: Shipstead, 1,343; Nelson, 569.

Crow Wing, 6 precincts: Shipstead, 1,048; Nelson, 839.

Wabasha county, 8 precincts: Shipstead, 846; Nelson, 531.

Martin county, 15 precincts: Shipstead, 1,843; Nelson, 1,236.

Wadena, 11 precincts: Shipstead, 1,239; Nelson, 850.

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—The farmer-labor party apparently lost one of its two Minnesota congressmen, it was believed this afternoon when William L. Carss, third party incumbent in the eighth district, appeared to have been defeated by his republican opponent, Pittenger.

Despite Carss' heavy plurality in Eveleth, Pittenger scored heavily when he forged ahead in St. Louis, Carlton and Itasca counties. Of the 519 precincts, 137 gave Pittenger 12,337, and Carss 11,629.

Election of Roosevelt Indicated in New York

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic gubernatorial nominee, was indicated in returns received and compiled here shortly before noon today.

With 376 districts missing, all Up-State, Roosevelt had a lead of more than 70,000 majority. The missing districts will undoubtedly cut into this lead to some extent, but it does not seem possible that it can be overcome, as the remaining districts are all lightly populated.

The total vote stood:
Roosevelt 2,078,078.
Ottinger 2,00,988.

RETURNS VERDICT ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Jury Conducts Investigation This Afternoon Into Death of Eileen Nelson

MRS. ELKINS CLEARED

Child Started at Approach of Car. Then Struck; Daughter Testifies of Accident

A verdict of accidental death was returned this afternoon by the jury at the inquest into the death of Eileen Nelson, seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton G. Nelson, N. E. Brainerd, who was fatally injured when struck by a car driven by Mrs. John Elkins on Third avenue at the intersection of "F" street on Monday afternoon at 3:35 P. M.

The verdict follows: "We the jury find that Miss Eileen Nelson accidentally came to her death by being struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. John Elkins, November 5, 1928, between the hours of 3 and 4 P. M., at the intersection of Third avenue and F street."

"I saw the child start, heard a bump and then I knew we had struck her. My mother screamed 'Oh, my God! I've hit that little girl!'" said Mrs. H. Carlson, daughter of Mrs. John Elkins, as she described to the jury the accident which resulted in the death of Eileen Nelson.

Mrs. Carlson was a passenger in the back seat of the Chandler car driven by her mother and witnessed the accident, she said.

"We were returning from the paper mill south on Third avenue. I noticed the child in the street about two feet from the west curb before coming to the intersection. The child seemed to be looking around and then of a sudden she started. Then I heard a bump. I could not tell if the car ran over her body," stated Mrs. Carlson.

After the car hit the child, it went over the curb narrowly missing a lamp post and came to a stop in the lawn of the H. Stein home.

Mrs. Carlson told of running to houses in an attempt to receive help and of calling a doctor from the home of Mrs. Stein. She told of the hysterical condition of Mrs. Elkins after the accident.

When questioned as to the speed the car was traveling, Mrs. Carlson replied that the car was traveling at a slow rate of speed. She judged it between ten and twelve miles an hour.

Mrs. John Elkins, who has been confined to her home since the accident in a weakened condition, was unable to attend the inquest. She was unaware of the child's death until this morning, when she was informed that the child had died. She is at present under physicians' care.

Art Koop was the first witness called. He said he was in the Gustafson & Nelson store on the corner of Third Avenue and "F" street when the accident happened. He told of rushing out and picking up the child, placing it in the car and starting for the hospital with her. The child died on the way to the hospital, Mr. Koop stated.

Coroner D. E. Whitney reported that he was unable to find any eye witnesses of the accident with the exception of those called and two children of the age of seven. He reported to the jury that the statements given by the two children were incoherent and asked the jury if it was their desire to have the children appear for examination. The jury decided on account of the young ages of the children not to call them.

Dr. R. A. Beise and Dr. H. A. Carlson reported having examined the body of the child, each stating that death was caused by a fracture at the base of the skull.

In addition to the fracture of the skull, the child received broken ribs, a fractured collar bone and abrasions about the body.

Members of the jury were: Louis F. Hohman, John M. Bye, Fred H. Gruenhagen, Dolph Hartley, E. W. Mosler, Rev. F. C. Rathert.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, covers a garden fete given by Spencer Hayden, a millionaire. There he meets Ann Tremaine, debutante daughter of a wealthy banker, who is engaged to marry Hector Richards, whom she does not love. She becomes interested in Dunn, and pretends she is a poor girl who has crashed the party. Dunn rails against the idle rich and his ideas stir Ann. She confesses she belongs to the class he hates, and Dunn is shocked, but admits he could fall in love with her if they belonged to the same social group. When she returns to the party she is greeted by Tom Garson, a notorious man-about-town. He takes her for a drive and makes love to her violently. She repulses him. That night, when she returns to her home, Jerry Dunn reappears. He confesses he had an irresistible desire to see her again.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

ANN and Jerry Dunn were hardly breathing; the air that was in their lungs seemed to be permanently imprisoned to keep them sustained floatingly in some ethereal medium. How could people be so amazingly infused with such inner buoyancy? They might have been birds leashed to earth each by a silken thread so frail that the easy movement of wings could have snapped it. Was it possible that things happened to the spirit, the soul, as things—accidents—happened to the body? Was there a secret spring in everybody which, precisely pressed, released a flood of magic?

"What do you want to say to me, Jerry Dunn? What did you come to tell me?"

In the poor light she could see his eyes shining, his voice was low, eager, compelling.

"It came to me, Ann, out of the blue. Like the smash of a revelation. Your whole trouble, Luck's been against you—you were born a rich too high. All this money, this luxury and society—it suits a lot of people, but it's too much for you! Like somebody trying to sing a song in a key too high for his voice. You've got to climb down out of it; you've got to drop a notch and be yourself on a level where you'll function in harmony with the life that surrounds you."

A scientist aglow with the headiness of a great discovery could not have been more excited; nothing could have set Dunn's heart pumping harder than the thrill of discovering a thing as elusive as truth.

"Don't you see," he urged her, "that some people are born below their station and some above it? I mean financially, socially. You've been living on chicken when you ought to be living on pork and beans—for your own good. Do you get it?"

His eyes were almost transparent; behind them she thought she could see heated light. Her own eyes, dilated, searched his.

"You told me something like this before, but it didn't have any meaning then."

"It means something now. Listen, Ann—don't think this is madness, but I have a miracle of an inspiration."

"What is it?"

What was this strange mental state they had conjured up out of their mutual stress? Ann could feel her whole life moving slowly, turning like something on a pivot. What Jerry Dunn saw was a heightened, vivid hunger on her face.

"I've come to take you away. Tonight!"

He didn't move, but he seemed closer to her. Nobody had ever said such things to her before. . . but it sounded singularly reasonable. . .

The only trouble was that she didn't love him. If this had been he—the man she was to love—she would have put her life with his and gone anywhere.

"But I don't. . . I don't love you, Jerry Dunn."

"I haven't said anything about love, Ann. Please try to understand—I simply want to pack you up and take you off where you can stand on your own feet and be your own self. If you keep dreaming and waiting it'll never be done. You've got the courage inside you—I can feel it. You're game enough to stake a lot on the turn of a card. I'm on the square with you—you know that."

"Yes, I trust you."

His fire was contagious; it played through her nerves with luminous ripples pulsating with the warm desire to slip out of the leaden casing of her life; to be free. . . to breathe deep the tang of independence. Nothing else on earth could be half as sweet—when you were starved for it.

"Where would we go?"

"I don't mean the South Seas or anything like that—that's silly," he said, with a steady calmness. "It's all so perfectly simple to do—right here at home. This city is big enough to swallow you up. Distance doesn't mean a thing; you'd never have to be further than a five-cent telephone call from home. You can choose your stratum. And it's a sane, reasonable proposition. If you don't like it you can always come back. Why not give it a whirl and see how the other half lives? Join them for a while—learn what it's all about."

"I'd love to," she said, and her voice was so low that it was almost standing there listening to him while her pulse beat firmly and quickly, his words seemed alive with the quintessence of all wisdom. The idea had taken hold of her like a fever.

"I could do it," she whispered. In her own secret mind she told herself: I can do as I please. Nobody owns me—not even my father or mother. Why should I marry Hector Richards if I don't want to? My life is my own to do with as I want to—not as other people want me to. I want to go where I can be around people like Jerry Dunn. But I'll not surrender to anybody or anything till I know what it's all about.

"Wait," she said almost fiercely to Jerry Dunn, and she slipped into the house.

Romance and Beauty

By AD SCHUSTER

LUELLA CROSS had beauty and she worshiped it. She was certain she had no need to be clever and was content to leave the qualities of thoughtfulness and modesty to her less fortunate sisters. "Let them cultivate manners," thought Luella if she thought at all, "and I will cultivate looks." And it may be said the results recorded in her mirror and the admiring gaze of Parkville were both startling and effective.

When the celebrated beauty contest was broached, Parkville to a man nominated Luella who smiled her thanks and made plans for the spending of the award. The contest was to be held in Parkville and was open to the state. As the day approached there came stories of promising entrants from one place and another. Luella looked upon their photographed features and smiled. It seemed too easy. There was not a one, she told herself and with some justification, who could match her pink and white complexion.

Two weeks before the contest, the tall Maxwell Boom came to town and because he was the most distinguished looking man she ever saw Luella was given something besides the contest to occupy her thoughts. Maxwell Boom was no longer a youth but he carried himself like a soldier and had that iron-gray hair which sometimes can be so romantic. Before twenty-four hours passed every girl in Parkville had speculated concerning this handsome stranger and wondered at the hidden sorrow which had tinged his hair and given him that look of dignity and reserve which, they agreed, was most becoming.

Maxwell met Luella and, strange enough, did not seem impressed. It was a new experience for the girl and one which stirred her to new efforts. She donned one of the dresses she had planned to wear during the contest week and contrived to meet him again. And Maxwell went just a small way toward surrendering. He asked her to dinner and the theater.

This older man appealed to the girl who felt every eye in the restaurant upon them and glowed all the prettier in her pride. With a husband like Maxwell, she thought, a girl's looks could be accounted to the best advantage. And that was as close as Luella ever came to falling in love with anyone save herself.

Maxwell was constant. He had an invitation for every evening and there were rides in the afternoon. Luella, used to attention, had never been singled out from so many by one man in so short a time. This one must be serious. Luella thought of the other girls and how envious they must be. After she had won Maxwell and the beauty contest there would be no one to dispute her sway.

"It's my complexion," she told herself; "all the time he looks at my cheeks." And the complexion she repeated would win the contest.

The day of the contest brought the girl her first faint misgivings. Something had gone wrong, just a little wrong, with the prized complexion. Perhaps she should not have gone out so many evenings, eaten so many late dinners. She rubbed her cheeks to give them color.

"At that," she decided, "one does not have to be one's very best to win from these others."

The contest was close. After an hour the judges had eliminated all save Luella and a brunette from Middleton. Luella wished she could pinch color into her cheeks for she knew her rival was a worthy one.

"They can't pick her—a brunette—when they have a blonde like me," she tried to convince herself and yet the judges gave no sign. Suddenly there was an agreement. The prize went to the stranger. Parkville lost and Middleton won, and because Luella lacked the coloring of the other.

The beautiful girl, tasting her first defeat, sought consolation in the romance. Maxwell Boom would tell her she was better looking than this black-haired girl. She would find Maxwell. Some one spoke to her. It was one of the judges.

"It was very close, Miss Cross, and our task was a hard one. Have you met Miss Boom, the winner?"

"Miss Boom?" For once the girl was thinking hard. Maxwell Boom; he was her father! And those lobster suppers, late hours were all in the plot against her pink cheeks. There was no prize now and no romance; only a firm conviction in the duplicity of men.

The Old Frank Leslie's

"We don't have such reading matter nowadays as we did when I was a boy," grumbled old Roswell Tasp. "I don't mean the Rollo books, the works of T. S. Arthur, and so on, that were only good for little old maids of both sexes. I am referring to Frank Leslie's Boys' and Girls' Weekly, of which we now and then get a copy on the six and read in the same way. There were in it the Jack Harkaway stories, which I believe were the most interesting romances ever penned—it was as if we could have discovered how they came out. But we never could. Something at ways happened to the paper—our patients destroyed it, or the house caught fire and burned it up, or something of the sort, and we never learned what happened to the hero. But I think they were the most interesting stories ever written."—Kansas City Times

You've got to climb down out of it; you've got to drop a notch and be yourself on a level where you'll function in harmony with the life that surrounds you."

A scientist aglow with the headiness of a great discovery could not have been more exalted; nothing could have set Dunn's heart pumping harder than the thrill of discovering a thing as elusive as truth.

"Don't you see," he urged her, "that some people are born below their station and some above it? I mean financially, socially. You've been living on chicken when you ought to be living on pork and beans—for your own good. Do you get it?"

His eyes were almost transparent; behind them she thought she could see heated light. Her own eyes, dilated, searched his.

"You told me something like this before, but it didn't have any meaning then."

"It means something now. Listen, Ann—don't think this is madness, but I have a miracle of an inspiration."

"What is it?"

What was this strange mental state they had conjured up out of their mutual stress? Ann could feel her whole life moving slowly, turning like something on a pivot. What Jerry Dunn saw was a heightened, vivid hunger on her face.

"I've come to take you away. Tonight!"

He didn't move, but he seemed closer to her. Nobody had ever said such things to her before . . . but it sounded singularly reasonable.

The only trouble was that she didn't love him. If this had been Hector—the man she was to love—she would have put her life with his and gone anywhere.

"But I don't . . . I don't love you, Jerry Dunn."

"I haven't said anything about love, Ann. Please try to understand—I simply want to pack you up and take you off where you can stand on your own feet and be your own self. If you keep dreaming and waiting it'll never be done. You've got the courage inside you—I can feel it. You're game enough to stake a lot on the turn of a card. I'm on the square with you—you know that."

"Yes, I trust you."

His fire was contagious; it played through her nerves with luminous ripples pulsating with the warm desire to slip out of the leaden casing of her life; to be free . . . to breathe deep the tang of independence. Nothing could not have been more exalted; nothing could have set Dunn's heart pumping harder than the thrill of discovering a thing as elusive as truth.

"Don't you see," he urged her, "that some people are born below their station and some above it? I mean financially, socially. You've been living on chicken when you ought to be living on pork and beans—for your own good. Do you get it?"

In the poor light she could see his eyes shining, his voice was low, eager, compelling.

"It came to me, Ann, out of the blue. Like the smash of a revelation. Your whole trouble, Luck's been against you—you were born a rich too high. All this money, this luxury and society—it suits a lot of people, but it's too much for you. Like somebody trying to sing a song in a key too high for his voice. You've got to climb down out of it; you've got to drop a notch and be yourself on a level where you'll function in harmony with the life that surrounds you."

a happy croon. "I wouldn't be afraid, either, not if I knew you were going to see me through."

"To the limit. You've lit a torch inside me and I'll show you the way as far as I can."

A dismal recollection of duty came to her, tugged at her heart like a weight. It was so hard, so impossible, to be free.

"But my father and mother. They'd set up no end of a row, poor things. They'd feel crushed and disgraced. If it weren't for that—"

"After they realized it can't be helped and that you're perfectly safe they won't worry overly much," Jerry pointed out. "If you tell them what you want to do they'll try to talk you out of it. I'd simply leave them a note and say that I was going far away for, say, three months. I'd tell them frankly why—that I was fed up and bored to death. You could promise to call them up every week. They could put out to your friends that you'd taken a sudden notion to go off and visit friends out West or in Europe, or any place. There'd be no sensation, no scandal or missing girl stuff."

When the celebrated beauty contest was broached, Parkerville to a man nominated Luella who smiled her thanks and made plans for the spending of the award. The contest was to be held in Parkerville and was open to the state. As the day approached there came stories of promising entrants from one place and another. Luella looked upon their photographed features and smiled. It seemed too easy. There was not a one, she told herself and with some justification, who could match her pink and white complexion.

Two weeks before the contest, the tall Maxwell Boom came to town and because he was the most distinguished looking man she ever saw Luella was given something besides the contest to occupy her thoughts. Maxwell Boom was no longer a youth but he carried himself like a soldier and had that iron-gray hair which sometimes can be so romantic. Before twenty-four hours passed every girl in Parkerville had speculated concerning this handsome stranger and wondered at the hidden sorrow which had tinged his hair and given him that look of dignity and reserve which, they agreed, was most becoming.

Maxwell met Luella and, strange enough, did not seem impressed. It was a new experience for the girl and one which stirred her to new efforts. She donned one of the dresses she had planned to wear during the contest week and contrived to meet him again. And Maxwell went just a small way toward surrendering. He asked her to dinner and the theater.

This older man appealed to the girl who felt every eye in the restaurant upon them and glowed all the prettier in her pride. With a husband like Maxwell, she thought, a girl's looks could be accented to the best advantage. And that was as close as Luella ever came to falling in love with anyone save herself.

Maxwell was constant. He had an invitation for every evening and there were rides in the afternoon. Luella, used to attention, had never been singled out from so many by one man in so short a time. This one must be serious. Luella thought of the other girls and how envious they must be. After she had won Maxwell and the beauty contest there would be no one to dispute her sway.

"It's my complexion," she told herself; "all the time he looks at my cheeks." And the complexion she repeated would win the contest.

The day of the contest brought the girl her first faint misgivings. Something had gone wrong, just a little wrong, with the prized complexion. Perhaps she should not have gone out so many evenings, eaten so many late dinners. She rubbed her cheeks to give them color.

"At that," she decided, "one does not have to be one's very best to win from these others."

The contest was close. After an hour the judges had eliminated all save Luella and a brunette from Middleton. Luella wished she could pinch color into her cheeks for she knew her rival was a worthy one.

"They can't pick her—a brunette—when they have a blonde like me," she tried to convince herself and yet the judges gave no sign. Suddenly there was an agreement. The prize went to the stranger. Parkerville lost and Middleton won, and because Luella lacked the coloring of the other.

The beautiful girl, tasting her first defeat, sought consolation in the romance. Maxwell Boom would tell her she was better looking than this black-haired girl. She would find Maxwell. Some one spoke to her. It was one of the judges.

"It was very close, Miss Cross, and our task was a hard one. Have you met Miss Boom, the winner?"

"Miss Boom?" For once the girl was thinking hard. Maxwell Boom; he was her father! And those lobster suppers, late hours were all in the plot against her pink cheeks. There was no prize now and no romance; only a firm conviction in the duplicity of men.

"The Old Frank Leslie's"

"We don't have such reading matter nowadays as we did when I was a boy," grumbled old Roswell Rasp. "I don't mean the Rollo books, the works of T. S. Arthur, and so on, that were only good for little old maids of both sexes. I am referring to Frank Leslie's Boys' and Girls' Weekly, of which we now and then get a copy on the sly and read in the same way. There were in it the Jack Harkaway stories, which I believe were the most interesting romances ever penned—it we could have discovered how they came out. But we never could. Something always happened to the paper—our parents destroyed it, or the house caught fire and burned it up, or something of the sort, and we never learned what happened to the hero. But I think yet they were the most interesting stories ever written."—Kansas City Times

Romance and Beauty

By AD SCHUSTER

LUELLA CROSS had beauty and she worshiped it. She was certain she had no need to be clever and was content to leave the qualities of thoughtfulness and modesty to her less fortunate sisters. "Let them cultivate manners," thought Luella as she thought at all, "and I will cultivate looks." And it may be said the results recorded in her mirror and the admiring gaze of Parkerville were both startling and effective.

When the celebrated beauty contest was broached, Parkerville to a man nominated Luella who smiled her thanks and made plans for the spending of the award. The contest was to be held in Parkerville and was open to the state. As the day approached there came stories of promising entrants from one place and another. ## CURTIS GETS NEWS OF ELECTION THIS MORNING

SENATOR HEARS OF VICTORY ON BOARD TRAIN

PULLMAN PORTER TUGGED AT BED CLOTHES AS HE SLEPT

6 A. M. ENROUTE TO WASH-INGTON HE HEARS JOYFUL TIDINGS

Enroute to Washington with the Vice-President-elect, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Not until dawn today did Charles Curtis of Kansas know for certain that he had been elected vice-president of the United States.

At 6 A. M. "George," the Pullman porter of car number sixty on Santa Fe train number six, tugged at the bed clothes under which Curtis was sleeping and the senator stirred. It was the first time the senator had been heard from since he retired at 8:15 o'clock last night with the national election still undecided.

Up to that hour he had been supplied with United Press returns mainly from eastern and southern states and the presidential contest was by no means settled.

During the remainder of the night the Santa Fe railroad submitted election returns to members of the senator's party but Curtis had left orders not to be disturbed and he was obeyed.

The first word of his victory reached the vice president-elect today from the lips of Sanford Jarrell of San Francisco, republican national committee representative who is accompanying Curtis back to Washington. Jarrell extended his congratulations soon after "George" reported that Curtis was awake.

The senator is weary after his strenuous campaign in 31 states and probably will send no telegrams of congratulations to his fellow candidate, Herbert Hoover, until he reaches Chicago.

Had Curtis remained awake until 1:40 A. M., as most of the people in this country do on election night, he could have participated in two enthusiastic demonstrations which were staged for his benefit while he slept.

At Marceline, Mo., the train crew had a difficult time keeping the crowd of Curtis admirers from boarding the train and routing him out of bed. They surrounded the car in which he was sleeping and shouted their throats raw and then watched the train pull away from the station.

"Mr. Hoover made a wonderful candidate," Curtis said.

"Personally I am grateful to the American people for the splendid endorsement given to the republican ticket."

Curtis ate breakfast in the dining car. He shook hands with everyone including the steward.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—"I am gratified with the returns," Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas said today in the first public statement he has made since his election to the vice-presidency.

Curtis arrived in Chicago from Topeka, where he voted yesterday, and planned to leave at 10:10 A. M. on the Baltimore & Ohio for Washington. He slept all night and did not know the result of the election until he was awakened this morning as his train approached Chicago.

A Sensible Plan to Reduce Automobile Expense

A $20,000,000 bond issue will make it possible to pave 1,000 miles in the next two years, instead of 100 miles a year as at present. Paving 1,000 miles of the roads having the heaviest traffic will save $1,000,000 a year in maintenance. The bonds can be retired in fifteen years at a cost of $26,140,000 in principal and interest. During that period the state will save $15,000,000 in maintenance bills. In other words, we will get $20,000,000 worth of pavement for $11,140,000. And car owners will have the benefit of the paving right away.

MINNESOTA citizens spend more than $300,000,000 every year for automobiles, gasoline, tires, repairs and other items of motor vehicle operating cost.

That sum is almost equal to the aggregate value of the crops produced by Minnesota in a year. It shows how important the highways are to our citizens—because you can't operate automobiles without highways.

The state trunk highways carry about 70 per cent of all of the highway traffic, or more than twice as much as all of the other highways put together. This is perfectly natural and obvious. It's true of all the other farming states.

There are about 7,000 miles of trunk highways. About six thousand miles of the system are gravel surfaced. There are over 1,000 miles of gravel which have such heavy traffic that it is impossible to keep them in good condition at any time of the year.

It costs much more to operate a car over a gravel road than over pavement. It takes more gasoline. Tires wear out much faster. The dust, and the roughness of the surface, causes a car to depreciate rapidly.

The Iowa Highway Commission has found that automobile tire cost alone is twice as much on gravel roads as on paved roads.

If Minnesota can build more paved roads without increasing taxes—isn't that the common sense thing to do?

By taking advantage of our constitutional right to issue bonds for road improvement, we can build more paved roads at once, reduce our growing maintenance cost and reduce the cost of operating automobiles. The present income from license fees and gasoline taxes will pay off the interest and principal of the bonds, without any property tax.

Remember that the automobile owners, exclusively, pay for the improvement and upkeep of the trunk highways—with their license fees and gasoline taxes. No property taxes are spent for trunk highways.

CURTIS GETS NEWS OF ELECTION THIS MORNING

SENATOR HEARS OF VICTORY ON BOARD TRAIN

PULLMAN PORTER TUGGED AT BED CLOTHES AS HE SLEPT

6 A. M. ENROUTE TO WASHING-TON HE HEARS JOYFUL
TIDINGS

Enroute to Washington with the Vice-President-elect, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Not until dawn today did Charles Curtis of Kansas know for certain that he had been elected vice-president of the United States.

At 6 A. M. "George," the Pullman porter of car number sixty on Santa Fe train number six, tugged at the bed clothes under which Curtis was sleeping and the senator stirred. It was the first time the senator had been heard from since he retired at 8:15 o'clock last night with the national election still undecided.

Up to that hour he had been supplied with United Press returns mainly from eastern and southern states and the presidential contest was by no means settled.

During the remainder of the night the Santa Fe railroad submitted election returns to members of the senator's party but Curtis had left orders not to be disturbed and he was obeyed.

The first word of his victory reached the vice president-elect today from the lips of Sanford Jarrell of San Francisco, republican national committee representative who is accompanying Curtis back to Washington. Jarrell extended his congratulations soon after "George" reported that Curtis was awake.

The senator is weary after his strenuous campaign in 31 states and probably will send no telegrams of congratulations to his fellow candidate, Herbert Hoover, until he reaches Chicago.

Had Curtis remained awake until 1:40 A. M., as most of the people in this country do on election night, he could have participated in two enthusiastic demonstrations which were staged for his benefit while he slept.

At Marceline, Mo., the train crew had a difficult time keeping the crowd of Curtis admirers from boarding the train and routing him out of bed. They surrounded the car in which he was sleeping and shouted their throats raw and then watched the train pull away from the station.

"Mr. Hoover made a wonderful candidate," Curtis said.

"Personally I am grateful to the American people for the splendid endorsement given to the republican ticket."

Curtis ate breakfast in the dining car. He shook hands with everyone including the steward.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—"I am gratified with the returns," Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas said today in the first public statement he has made since his election to the vice-presidency.

Curtis arrived in Chicago from Topeka, where he voted yesterday, and planned to leave at 10:10 A. M. on the Baltimore & Ohio for Washington. He slept all night and did not know the result of the election until he was awakened this morning as his train approached Chicago.

THE KNOT HOLE

Vol. 3 WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1928 No. 38

Published for the information and entertainment of the home-loving folks in Brainerd and vicinity by the Standard Lumber Co. Paul H. Schultdt, Editor.

Two tons of coal were stolen last Winter from every home in Brainerd that was not protected with our storm sash and weatherstripping.

About the best argument we heard in the present campaign was between a Democrat who is voting for Hoover and a Republican who is voting for Smith.

The "wets" who want to keep "dry" and the "drys" who don't want to get "wet" unanimously acclaim MULE-HIDE as the logical candidate and sponsor his election.

School District No. 35, Lake Edward Township, are building a fine new school house. It's going to be "warm" and "dry" because they use "MASONITE" for insulation and "MULE-HIDE" shingles for the roof.

The Brainerd Co-op Creamery are improving their well equipped building with Storm Porches, Storm Sash and Storm Doors. This is going to mean a lot in added comfort and fuel economy this Winter.

A radio chain the other night put the opera "L'Amico Fritz" on the radio, but what we want to know is who, or what, it is that puts the radio on the Fritz in Brainerd?

Reading that tigers can climb trees makes us more firmly resolved than ever never to do any tiger hunting.

We'll say this for the election campaign, it never once ran out of gas.

Science has proved that fifty per cent of the married people here in the United States are women.

Figures that have attracted men: Venus de Milo, September Morn, Annette Kellerman, Mae Murray, Clara Bow. Figures that have attracted women: $1.98.

"Long Distance" has a personal appeal that no letter can convey. It is like being there in person.

You can talk with loved ones over the long distance telephone, whether separated from them by only a few miles, or by hundreds.

Just ask for "Long Distance," give her your call and soon you will be talking.

We Answer Some Pointed Questions About MAJESTIC

Question: What is the difference between the "dynamic" and the "magnetic" speaker?

Answer: The "dynamic" is a "power" speaker assisted by power tubes and an induction coil. The "magnetic" speaker depends upon magnetism entirely; no power tubes, no induction coil.

The magnetic speaker is splendid; but the SUPER-dynamic MAJESTIC is MAGNIFICENT.

Q.: What is the difference between the usual dynamic speaker and the SUPER-dynamic MAJESTIC speaker?

A.: Relatively, the ordinary dynamic speaker is like the ordinary passenger engine; while the SUPER-dynamic MAJESTIC is like the mighty "mogul" that pulls the million-dollar coast trains.

Q.: How can you state that the MAJESTIC at $137.50 and $167.50 (less tubes) is the full equal of its fellows selling at $450?

A.: Because it's a FACT! Many radio factories have been caught in the maelstrom of progress. They're square against walls of production limits; coral reefs of stocks of obsolete sets; hedgerows of patent restrictions that COMPEL them to buy most of their "parts" from other manufacturers.

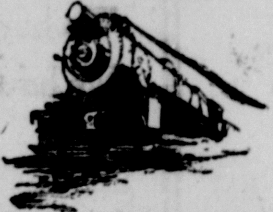

Whereas MAJESTIC makes every INCH of its products—even its own tools and gigantic stamping machines—in its own plants. Thereby, MAJESTIC SAVES as much as a dozen profits to other manufacturers and passes the SAVING to you.

Q.: I hear radios are going to be improved. Should I wait?

A.: CERTAINLY, if you're the "waiting" kind; and most of us are. When next year comes it's a ten-to-one chance that you'll conclude to wait a while longer—for more time, more pleasant weather, better conditions, etc., etc.

The fine thing about most people "waiting" is that getting delivery on a MAJESTIC is made so much easier for the fellow who DOESN'T wait—the fellow who knows that if you wait till the LAST improvement is made in EVERYTHING you'll never have ANYTHING. People who always live in the future miss all the great things of the present.
